When my friends and I went to take a once in a lifetime vacation to Europe Our flight was delayed six hours. In conclusion our hotel room was given to someone else. Our luggage was also flown to Switzerland, causing us to buy clothes and personal items because we didn't get them until the next day's afternoon.

I was expecting to have a fun trip and to get there on time, however we got there six hours later then we planned to. It also caused us to waste money on buying other clothes and personal items do to our luggage getting flown to Switzerland.

I would like it if the airport can reimburse each of us for having to purchase extra clothing and personal items due to the luggage dilemma. I also think that if the planes were checked in the beginning of the day there wouldn't have been a six hour dilemma.

You can contact me through my email, which is wcbroxc@gmail.com. I expect you to reimburse us or at least contact us by Monday of next week.

Sincerely,
